Routine public hearing turns into a battle over high-rises

What began as a public hearing by the Daly City City Council on a resolution of necessity to acquire four small lots to straighten Westlake Avenue evolved into an argument over the necessity of a proposed 11-story office building at Westlake and Junipero Serra Boulevard Monday night, the possible forerunner of a battle over high-rises in the city.

Trying repeatedly to assure everyone that the council was only approving a resolution of necessity and one of eminent domain and that the four 29-foot-wide lots on Junipero Serra were to be used only for parking in the city's redevelopment area, the council heard itself accused of a "cavalier attitude" about neighboring property and disregard of the views from much of the old Daly City area.

This would be a "friendly condemnation" of three of the four lots owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., City Manager David R. Rowe told the council, with price being the only thing to be decided. PG&E has agreed to sell three of the parcels just south Westlake Avenue.

But William Ryan, representing the PG&E property office, told the council the utility wants to retain one lot, one which it now has an installation, for present and future use. Rowe said the installation is small and wouldn't take much of the lot, and possibly an easement could be arranged for city use of the rest of it. Ryan said it would cost perhaps $500,000 to move the equipment, so PG&E would rather keep it where it is.

In response to a question, Rowe said the four lots are desired by the city for the street realignment and public parking, perhaps under "an owner-participation plan for a future office tower or other developments."

That brought on attorney Frank Blum, Jr., representing Florence Ferrando, executrix of the Fred Ferrando estate, owner of several adjacent parcels along Junipero Serra, who charged that real estate agents already are promoting the 11-story office building, tentatively planned for the site now occupied by the Standard Oil service station at Westlake and Junipero Serra.

Development maps of the area show all the Ferrando land for a parking structure, and "My people are greatly upset," Blum said.

Tenants in the business buildings on the Ferrando properties now are unwilling to make improvements or execute new leases because they feel the city soon may condemn the land and they don't want to lose their investments, Blum said, charging that "This shows a cavalier attitude toward the Ferrando property."

There is an application on file in the city Planning Department for such a building, and it's been before the city Project Area Committee at least three times so is public knowledge, Rowe countered.

But Councilman William Schumacher, an attorney himself, said he was "kind of amazed" at proposals he has received at his home from realtors on the possibilities of leasing space in the new building when it hasn't even been approved for construction yet.

That's common practice, Rowe replied.

"We can't prevent overzealous real estate men from saying whatever they want to say. No one can say, either, that the city is for this building yet. It still must go before the Planning Commission and City Council for approval," City Attorney Albert Polonsky noted.

Ernest Pezzola, co-chairman of the Original Daly City Protective Association, charged that a 100-by-100-foot building at Junipero Serra and Westlake would block views of homes in the area and from Mission Street would look like "a great big wall." Also, it wouldn't conform to the 60-foot height limit for structures on Junipero Serra, Pezzola said.

Mrs. Louise Garry got in the last word, saying "We don't want any high-rises in Daly City. You broke the limits with the California Federal building and Mary's Help Hospital. Now they have a foot in the door."

You start with a stone and viola . . . suddenly stone soup

By JOHN CURRY
Post Staff Writer

Calling him over for his turn at cutting the vegetables, Mrs. Florence Ofenheim told a 5-year-old boy, "Go wash your hands first." The boy scampered to the coffee table-height basin and drainboard in the Westlake School kindergarten room and splashed water on his hands.

Then, as those of his age tend to do, he glanced at the large roll of paper towels in the rack, turned and headed to the cutting table, wiping his hands down the sides and seat of his jeans, working on the wetter spots with his shirt.

This was no ordinary job he was tackling. This was Stone Soup Day in Ms. Lewis' class, and he was helping to fix the soup. The fledgling chef's classmates had been cutting vegetables for about an hour, and soon they were finished and the last bowl of cabbage was going into one of two large, gently steaming pots of stone soup, each filled nearly to the brim and heating on a two-burner tabletop electric stove.

Teacher Barbara Lewis was overseeing the annual culinary operation in her Daly City classroom, stirring occasionally and keeping little fingers off the warm pot and lids.

"That smells better than it ever has," Mrs. Peggy Vollert enthused as she entered the room with one toddler daughter in hand and another daughter in a stroller. She should know. Her four sons worked on stone soup during their kindergarten days in Ms. Lewis' room.

"We're going to have more than we'll ever eat," Ms. Lewis remarked.

But the learning experience is what counts. The youngsters came to school at 11:45 a.m. last Friday, bringing cabbage, carrots, corn, celery, onions, string beans, potatoes, barley and buillion with them.

For some, it was their first attempt at cutting the vegetables, and showing them how to cut with a reasonably sharp knife and still keep their fingers out of the way occupied Ms. Lewis and Mrs. Ofenheim until the soup was cooking.

Now, they could only wait until it was ready, probably in another hour or so.

At the bottom of one of the pots was the stone, a smooth, bluish-gray hunk of rock that would fit in an adult's palm, lending its mystical charm to the soup.

The tradition began with Mrs. Ofenheim, who taught at Westlake until her retirement 10 years ago, and passed it on to Ms. Lewis. Mrs. Ofenheim still comes in every year to help, however.

Stone soup originated from a folk tale of several centuries ago, possibly in Europe, and now has several modern versions. Ms. Lewis uses the one in a kindergarten textbook by Anne McGovern. The story appeals to children because of the "magic" of soup coming from a stone, she explained.

The story is that a poor, young man, walking day and night, is hungry and stops at a farmhouse to ask for food. The housewife says she has none to give him, so he asks for a stone from her garden, explaining that he can make soup from it, if he has a pot and water.

Intrigued, she puts a pot of water on the stove to heat. When it boils she asks if it's done and he replies that the soup would cook faster if he had some onions. She gets some from her garden and they go in the pot. Soon, she says it smells good, but he tells her it would smell better with some carrots in it. She gets the carrots and it goes on that way with all the other vegetables. Between each, she exclaims, "Fancy that, soup from a stone." Finally she tastes it, pronounces it delicious, and they sit down and eat.

The man then leaves, taking the stone with him, saying it could cook more and that he would use it again the next day.

In the Westlake version, Ms. Lewis also asked the children each to bring a stone and the class would vote on the best one to use. But, she said, all the stones were too small, some the size of marbles. "It would be too easy to swallow them accidentally," she said. The stone she used was the one from two years ago.

The important thing here is the learning experience in food preparation and the fact that "These foods are good without sweets," Ms. Lewis said.

Though it's the most traditional, Stone Soup Day is but one of the monthly food preparation projects she has.

These include such seasonal favorites as home-made applesauce in the fall, cornbread to go with a Thanksgiving food-sharing party, red juice pops for Valentine's Day, green eggnog for St. Patrick's Day and salads anytime.

IT'S GETTING THERE

This is the fabled soup stone

Another favorite project is to bring peanuts from home and grind them up into natural peanut butter.

All of it is aimed at preparation of healthful foods, she said. For instance, the juice pops "are better for you than junky candy."

"We used to make something every week, but now it's once a month because food is too expensive," Ms. Lewis said, adding that some of the children "come from families that are quite poor."

She was interrupted by a small voice near the soup pots asking "Is the soup ready?" Another voice came in almost simultaneously "When do we eat?" She told them both it would be soon. "They eat an early lunch before they come to school, so they're always hungry here," she went on.

Odor fighting grants on way

A variety of new odor and noise control measures with a total estimated cost of $860,000 are coming nearer to being built, with the needed federal and state grants on the way, the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors was informed Monday.

The good news for the Westlake area neighbors of the district treatment plant and, by proxy, the district, came from District Manager Peter M. Archuleta, who said he had been informed Monday morning that the state had approved a $466,000 contract let by the board last month for a two-stage odor control project.

Archuleta estimated the contractor will need up to 100 days to begin work.

Archuleta said also that a $328,000 federal and state grant for covering the secondary clarifiers at the plant had been approved by the Bay Area Air Quality Management District.

These projects are "unanticipated remedial work," Archuleta noted, with 75 percent of the money coming from federal and 12½ percent from state wastewater quality management funds. The remaining 12½ percent is from the district's own funding sources.

The Westlake neighbors have been complaining for a year about the smells and noises from the treatment plant which have wafted their way periodically and seem to be worse on holidays and weekends.

The two-phase odor control program, like the other in the planning stages for several months, would include plexiglass tops on the sludge digesters, principal clarifier, centrifuge and scrubbers.

The low bid, from Monterey Mechanical Co. of San Leandro, was $156,000 over the engineering estimate, but the board went ahead with seeking state approval anyway, after the design engineer said the shed-type covers had been re-designed of more sound-resistant plexiglass and that to call for new bids would mean a four- to six-week delay, something BAAQMD may not like.

The total project cost would come to $532,000, Archuleta explained Monday, with engineering construction management and contingency funding added in.

Unable to stop the odor from the secondary clarifiers, the district staff has opted for the other project which is hoped will cut the effluvia from the plant even more.

Archuleta said also that in the case of the these two projects, unlike most, he hoped to have the grant money "in hand" to pay the contractors and consultants when they bills come in. The federal and state money for eligible projects usually is paid as reimbursement for local funds already spent.

That bit of information came during a discussion of the district's annual tax revenue anticipation funding from the county, a routine loan asked for in November to tide the district over until its sewer service revenues, starting coming in during the winter. Many public agencies borrow money like this before their year's revenues arrive.

But the district won't need such a loan this year, although it had asked for $156,000 to tide it over and the loan had been approved by the county Board of Supervisors.

This brought a request from Director John M. Ward, who also is a county supervisor, that the district "get a better handle" on its financial needs by next November, "so we don't have to do this again."

He complained that the board, which had to approve the loan, "got into a lot of discussion" and spent considerable time on the matter, needlessly, it turned out.

Archuleta said he would try. By putting off as many expenses as it could, including a construction project and hiring of personnel until this month, "We squeaked by," he said.

Retirement dinner for JESD trustees

A retirement dinner for Beverly K. Forrester and Alvin Schwarzbach will be Feb. 28 at Nick's Rockaway Restaurant, Pacifica.

Mrs. Forrester and Schwarzbach both decided last year not to seek reelection to the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

A no-host cocktail party begins at 6 p.m. Dinner is at 7:15. Cost is $12.50 per person.

For tickets, write Dorothy D. Adams, 539 Naintic St., Daly City 94014. Make checks payable to Forrester-Schwarzbach Retirement Dinner.

For details, call Mrs. Adams (756-7600), Nancy Thomas (992-3680) or Ruth Galindo (756-8786).

Permit denied: No reason is given

A San Francisco man was denied a taxi driver's permit in an unusual meeting with the Daly City City Council Monday night.

The council opened its Monday night special meeting and promptly adjourned to executive session to consider the appeal of Walter A. Nutters of the denial of the taxi driver permit by Police Chief David A. Hansen. After about 20 minutes the council reconvened in open meeting and voted unanimously to uphold Hansen's denial. No reasons were announced.

Nutters wrote his letter of appeal to the council Jan. 6, three days after being notified by Hansen that his permanent taxi permit was denied. Nutters had been given a temporary permit in November, when he went to work for Daly City Cab, he said.

Nutters said he presumed the permit was denied because he had been arrested twice, once in 1969 for possession of five "pep pills" and in 1971 for having a marijuana plant in his garden. He said he had pleaded guilty to both misdemeanors and was sentenced to probation.

He said the police chief had listed his reason for denial as "moral turpitude," but that that was all past and now he wants to make an honest living for himself, his wife and the their first baby, expected in July.

The council vote to uphold the denial was 3-1, with Councilman Albert Teglia the only dissenter.

Treated effluent is seeping onto a beach

A major break in the deep-water outfall line on the beach at Fort Funston is letting an estimated 90 percent of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District's treated effluent onto the beach there, Manager Peter M. Archuleta reported to the district Board of Directors Monday.

He asked for and got emergency authorization to order new elbow fittings and pipe to rebuild the line, which he said ruptured. The treatment plant in Westlake treats some 6 million gallons of sewage a day, pumping out the effluent through pipe to the beach at Fort Funston and several hundred yards out to sea through underwater diffusers at the end of the line.

The cause of the break has been determined to be a combination of extremely low tides during the recent storms and a high volume of storm drainage and raw sewage runoff from an adjacent concrete San Francisco sewage conduit tunnel, which has been pouring a steady stream of sewage and rainwater onto the beach, which increased the erosion and caused the NSMCSD line to break of its own weight when the supporting sand was washed out from under it, district consulting engineer Robert R. Eppler explained.

The sanitation district spillage is not raw sewage, it was emphasized. District counsel James Morton noted that the treated effluent is of approximately the same quality the district has been authorized to sell to neighboring golf and country clubs for irrigation of their golf courses.

The district has gone almost 18 years with no outfall line problems, the board was reminded.

The line was built some years ago on the San Francisco beach so the construction contractor could take advantage of the large, long San Francisco sewage tunnel for space to put the lengths of pipe together and push the line out along the ocean bottom, Eppler said.

That's why it enters the beach south of the tunnel, but then angles across the beach to a point opposite the San Francisco outfall tunnel, then turns directly across the surfline. The district saved several hundred thousand dollars on its construction this way, he said.

The manufacturer of the pipe and parts has indicated it would take three weeks to fill an order, Archuleta told the board. "Time is somewhat critical," he said, pointing out that this would be the best time to repair the line because of the absence of the sand around it. Higher tides after the storm will bring the sand back around the line and add excavating cost to the repairs, he said.

There are no cost estimates yet for the project, Archuleta went on.

He said the Bay Region Water Quality Control Board had been notified immediately after the break was first seen Thursday, and that the district was advised to take effluent samples every three days for coliform testing. Coliform is the basic substance of waste from warm-blooded animal digestive systems, including humans, and is the primary target of sewage treatment.

The district also was told to post the area as potentially dangerous to health.

Eppler, who is to find a contractor to make the repairs, noted that it had been suggested years ago that a concrete cradle be built to hold the line. Such a cradle would be independent of the shifting sands around it, he said.

Saturday is the day to buy tickets to the 26th annual Westlake Catholic Women's Fashion show!

The days are dwindling and if you are planning to enjoy the elegance of luncheon in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel and the opportunity to see what is new for spring from the fashion collection of Bullock's you had best hurry about the business of assembling your friends and counting the number of reservations you will need for the Feb. 9 event.

Mrs. Rita Quinn and Mrs. Louise Rainey are chairing the fund-raising event this year for the Our Lady of Mercy Parish. Adalene Ross will be the fashion commentator for Bullock's of Stonestown and special entertainment will be provided by Paul Waltt.

"Bouquet of Fashion" has been selected as the theme for the show.

Members of the parish community friends are invited to purchase tickets on Saturday, 10 a.m. until noon. Cost per ticket is $11. Table assignment will be made on a first-come first-serve basis.

This is traditionally a sell-out, so don't risk waiting until mid-morning to purchase your tickets, warns Mrs. Kent Robinson, publicity chairwoman.

Mary's Help Hospital Guild is accepting sponsor donations for the Fuchsia Ball.

Staged annually by the guild, the proceeds from the ball are used to help retire the $300,000 pledge made by the guild to the hospital's expansion program.

Sponsors may donate $20 or more toward the ball and they will be listed on the Fuchsia Ball program. Donations are tax deductible and serve an important function in assuring the success of the fund-raising and social event.

Mrs. Nanda Stewart is the chairwoman for the 1980 edition of the Fuchsia Ball, which will be held at the Green Hills Country Club in Millbrae, March 1.

Persons wishing to be listed as sponsors must have their donations mailed to 1450 Southgate Ave., Daly City, prior to Feb. 10 to allow time for the printers to have the list made up for the programs.

Patti Parks McClain, in town to remind everyone that Oakland is not THAT Far from Daly City, reminds localites that her collection of vintage fashions, seen frequently at local PTA Founders Day programs, has grown considerably and she is anxious that friends from her Daly City Community Chorus days come and see what has happened to her hobby.

Newest display at the Patti McClain Museum of Vintage Fashion is in the Dinkelspiel House on the grounds of Dunsmuir House in Oakland, is the exhibiting "Suiting Evryone Fabulous Fashion Accessories circa 1870 to 1899."

Mrs. Deanna Cortopassi Consani and Mrs. Shirley Crudo Halldorson are searching the North Peninsula for persons who graduated from Balboa High School in the fall of 1959.

A committee of former class members is working on a reunion, to be held on March 8 at the Verdi Club.

Anyone wishing more information, or to order $20 per-person tickets should write Class of '59 Reunion, 77 Mira Vista Court, Daly City.

TOURING THE DOELGER CENTER

Looking for some input from Daly City's senior citizens

Senior citizens of Daly City who have ideas about programs, needs and interests of their age group should contact the Daly City Senior Center Little House as soon as possible, according to Coordinator Joanne Thomas.

The big push is on to get the program organized, because it is hoped that the city soon will have its very own spacious, well-equipped senior center in the former Abraham Lincoln School in Westlake.

Planning for the expected expansion is imperative now, Mrs. Thomas said, and along with suggestions from seniors, more volunteers are needed.

Mrs. Thomas said orientation sessions for volunteers will be from 2 to 4 p.m. Jan. 30 and 31 at the Little House, led by her and Volunteer Coordinator Lucille Herzo. "We'll try to match what they want to do with what needs doing," she pointed out.

"That's why we can't wait for the opening of the Doelger center. We have to plan ahead," she added.

The city has been negotiating for purchase of Abraham Lincoln from the Jefferson Elementary School District for several months. The school was closed in 1978 because of declining enrollment. City Manager David R. Rowe is scheduled to present the JESD Board of Trustees with an official letter of intent to purchase at the board meeting at 8 tonight at the district office, 101 Lincoln Ave.

If all goes well, the senior center would be the first city facility in the former school buildings, occupying some 2,400 square feet, much more than in its cramped office quarters at 244 92nd St. The new facility will be named the Doelger Community Center, in honor of the late Henry Doelger, developer of most of Westlake. His widow, Thelma, has pledged over $600,000, or half the purchase price of the school, to help the city acquire it.

The Senior Citizens Council and staff, along with Daly City Deputy City Manager Ray Letsinger, met Friday to map its strategy, went by bus to tour the senior centers in Menlo Park and Palo Alto, and then traveled to the County Government Center in Redwood City for talks with county building and engineering officials about designing the space at Doelger.

This Monday, the senior leaders toured the prospective center.

"We are they who scorn the scorners —
Love the lovers — hate
None within the world's four corners —
All must share one fate;
We are they whose common banner
Bears no badge nor sign,
Save the light which flies with might;
The Hope that makes it shine."

"We are they who will not falter —
Many swords or few —
Till we make this Earth the altar
Of a worship new;
We are they who will not take
From palace, priest or code,
A meaner Law than Brotherhood
A lower Lord than God."

Adapted from Edwin Arnold's "Armageddon"

Let us pause to pay tribute to the individuals and the groups in our communities who devote many hours to the cause of brotherhood. Among them are the chapters of a group known as Friends of the Library. The spread of enlightenment is their goal; the brotherhood of man their aim. Friend is in their name and with it comes their commitment to use knowledge and reason to produce good will among all the parties and groups of society.

During the course of a year the Friends of the Library sponsor activities that emphasize not only brotherhood but human progress as well. The activity may be a review of a significant book, or the scheduling of heart to heart — one-to-one discussions on the issues of the day. The activity may present a speaker or show, or a film, or sponsor a recital or even a concert that shows mankind at his creative best regardless of race, creed or color.

The activity scheduled for January 24 by the Friends of the Library in Daly City is an example of the type of programs sponsored by the Friends of the Library groups throughout San Mateo County, California and across the country. At 7:30 p.m. in the Westlake Community Center, the Daly City Friends will present "A Salute to Our Ethnic Heritage."

The program will feature performances by San Mateo County residents who represent the varied cultures at our finger-tips.LThere will be Irish dancers with nimble steps and measured leaps.

A Daly City mother and her daughters will present the patterned rhythms of the dances of their native isle in Polynesia.

A Polish group will exhibit the folk dances of their country in Eastern Europe.

Israeli songs will be rendered by members of the Temple Beth Israel, while Italian arias will be presented by a member of the famed San Francisco Opera Chorus.

The master of ceremonies will be Dr. John M. Connolly.

To complete the evening, there will be varied refreshments that will be foods from many lands. These are being prepared under the eye of the ever efficient hospitality committee.

In choosing to sponsor the Jan. 24 affair, Denise Schwarzbach, president of the Daly City Friends of the Library, said, "In the Bay Area we are very fortunate indeed to have at our finger-tips — not quite the whole world — but almost . . . The interesting aspect of the diversity of our backgrounds is that it enriches us all tremendously and unites us into a strong, caring community.

"Tell a friend!" she adds.

"Friendship," wrote William Penn, "is a union of spirits, a marriage of hearts, and a bond thereof of virtue." And he added, "There can be no friendship where there is no freedom. Friendship loves a free air, and will not be fenced up in straight narrow enciosures."

In presenting such programs as Daly City's "Salute of Our Ethnic Heritage," Friends of the Library are living up to their name.

It deserves our support.

Srock suspended, then to be reinstated

Daly City Police Officer Stephan Srock has been suspended from active duty for 30 days without pay, but then will be reinstated to the force, City Manager David R. Rowe announced Monday in releasing a hearing officer's report.

Srock was suspended with pay last March 15, pending his dismissal on charges of unprofessional conduct in three incidents in early 1979.

The hearing officer, retired Superior Court Judge Louis B. Dematteis, took the case under advisement Sept. 21 after hearing six days of testimony in a pre-determination, or "Skelley" hearing requested by Srock after he had been given written notice March 15 of the city's intention to fire him.

Srock now has the option of filing an appeal with the city Personnel Board within 10 days. That board's findings and recommendations would go automatically to the City Council for a final determination by the city.

Rowe approved Dematteis' recommendation and officially notified Srock Friday of the decision. The suspension was effective immediately.

Srock, with four years on the force, was charged with pointing his service revolver at a large dog in a car during a traffic stop Feb. 3, 1979, and not reporting it, and made untrue statements about the position of the dog and the size of the window opening of the car. It was reported that the window wasn't open far enough for the dog to be of any danger to him.

Srock also was charged with indifference to the needs of two injured persons at the scene of an auto accident and of making an incomplete report of the accident Feb. 23, 1979, which reflected unfavorably on him and the department.

It was determined also that Srock on Feb. 16, 1979 had signed out from the police property room a purse containing some credit cards to take to a court hearing. The purse was being held in evidence in a criminal proceeding. Srock then was alleged to have taken the purse and cards to his home, where they were recovered by police March 28, after his suspension. There was no evidence he intended the property for his own use, the hearing officer found.

Small roof fire at Jeff

A small roof fire at Jefferson High School, Daly City, Monday evening has been established as arson, Daly City Fire Department officials said Tuesday.

The fire, which was confined to the roof on the southwest corner of the woodshop building, was reported at 7:14 p.m.

When firemen arrived, flames were soaring six or seven feet into the air.

Firemen said unknown person or persons threw a bundle of ignited material on top the roof, causing the blaze.

RETIRING

Emmett Tierney, a science teacher at Jefferson High School, Daly City, has announced that he will retire next year. Tierney has taught at Jefferson for the past 24½ years.

Science teacher retiring after 24½ years

By MARCO PANATTONI

"I don't plan to stay home and just watch the television," says Emmett Tierney, who is retiring Feb. 1 after 24½ years of teaching at Jefferson High School.

Tierney, who first came to Jeff in 1955 when he was 41 years old, plans to be "an active little boy" after he retires this month.

Tierney began his teaching career at Jeff with study halls and social studies classes after having worked in real estate for 15 years.

However, he has spent the past 22 years teaching science and, occasionally, mathematics. He was once the director of student activities and has been adviser of the Horseman's Club since 1956.

"Back in the 1950s and 1960s, students had more respect than now," he says. "We didn't have a winning football team then, but Jeff has always had a lot of spirit. That is one thing this school has never lacked."

Tierney says after he retires he'll visit a ranch which he owns, where he enjoys horseback riding and fishing. He also has some painting and gardening to do at his Daly City home.

Tierway was born in Eureka, Ca. He went to Lowell High School and later attended USF, where he received a bachelor's degree in economics and a masters in education.

Tierney has been married for 44 years to Virginia. He has three daughters, two of whom are married, and two grandchildren.

San Brunans plan giant U.S. flag rally

The San Brunans who ran into trouble over their plan to sell tiny American flags on local streets now want to hold a rally so everyone can wave their flags together.

Doris and Ali Sharifi said they and other members of the newly formed Committee of Patriotic Americans want to hold a gathering in the city to show how much pride U.S. citizens have in their country.

Mrs. Sharifi said the couple want to hold the rally in late January, "before Russia takes over," in a large parking lot or at Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

The purpose of the rally, she noted, will be "to show support for our country" in the Iranian and Afghanistan situations.

Her husband's support is all the more dramatic, for he is a former Iranian citizen who moved to this country in 1959 and became an American citizen in 1978.

The committee plans to invite speakers to address the crowd at the rally and to sell patriotic items, including Uncle Sam hats, American flag lapel pins and bumper stickers that declare, "I'm proud I'm an American."

Mrs. Sharifi hopes other citizens will help them organize the rally. The Sharifis can be reached at their business at 180 S. Spruce St. in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Sharifi reported that the group had great success selling small American flags that they urged citizens to attach to their car antennas.

The biggest hurdle in that effort was obtaining the San Bruno City Council's permission to sell the flags on public property.

The council members indulged in a long "I'm more patriotic than you" discussion before finally making it clear that Mrs. Sharifi wouldn't have to pay the usual business license fee; her group is a non-profit organization.

Since then, Mrs. Sharifi said, business has been brisk. Her measure of success is the number of people honking their car horns, because committee members asked those purchasing flags to honk their horns whenever they saw other cars sporting the flags.

Now, Mrs. Sharifi said with pride, "There's a lot of tooting going on."

But she and the other members of her group could have difficulty with their plan to hold a rally.

San Bruno's city code specifically states that the City Council must approve any rally held on public property.

"I guess I should check into that," Mrs. Sharifi said.

Change in attitude led to Armstrong's release

By RICK SULLIVAN

Larry Armstrong's dramatic change in attitude and his status as a model inmate led to his early release from jail, according to court officials.

John O'Connor, the probation officer assigned to supervise Armstrong, recommended to Superior Court Judge Robert D. Miller that his client be freed, reasoning:

"The jail sentence already has had its desired effect in terms of punishment and forcing Mr. Armstrong to take another look at himself."

Judge Miller Thursday granted Armstrong's request for an early jail release, noting, "Circumstances have changed significantly in the case so that a modification (of the sentence) should be granted."

Miller ordered Armstrong released from detention and that his sentence be reduced to the three months he already has served in jail.

Armstrong, however, will remain on probation for three years, and during that time cannot hold any public office, nor can he run for election.

Last October, Superior Court Judge Allan Bollhoffer sentenced Armstrong to one year in the county jail for forging voter signatures on an election petition for a seat on the county Board of Supervisors.

Armstrong has said that he plans to attend a theology school in Berkeley and to continue working with youths at the Valley Presbyterian Church in Portola Valley, where he has been employed as a counselor and administrator for the past three months.

After the court proceedings Thursday, he thanked church members for their guidance and support during his incarceration.

His religious activities, O'Connor emphasized, were not the basis of the recommendation for early release.

The probation officer said that he was most impressed by the progress Armstrong has made since he began weekly psychological counseling sessions.

"I have observed a great change in his mental attitude," said O'Connor. "He is more realistic about himself and what he can and cannot accomplish.

"He has come to understand that you can't do everything that attracts you all at the same time. And he has come to realize that anyone can fail at something and that when it occurs, it's not the end of the world."

Last August, Armstrong pleaded no contest to a charge that he forged voter signatures on a petition to escape paying filing fees to run for a seat on the county Board of Supervisors.

Thursday, Armstrong admitted that he made a grave mistake, adding, "I let my ego get in the way of my better judgment."

The staff of the jail work-furlough facility also recommended that Armstrong be released early.

Lt. Mike Reid, in charge of the work-furlough program, called Armstrong "one of the five or six guys in this facility who is more of a positive influence than a negative one."

Armstrong, 33, had been admitted to the work-furlough program, which allows inmates to go to their place of employment during the day but report back to the detention facility at night and on weekends.

Critic's Choice panel

A panel of Bay Area television, movie and theater critics will discuss their special talents, their problems as writers and their role in the media at the program "Critic's Choice," sponsored by the California Press Women, Northern California Chapter.

The program will be at the San Francisco headquarters of the World Affairs Council, 312 Sutter St., second floor — from 6 to 7:30 p.m., Jan. 24.

The panel will include Bob Foster, San Mateo Times television and radio columnist and a frequent KGO Radio Talk Show guest; Judy Stone, a San Francisco Chronicle film critic and former entertainment section editor; Stanley Eichelbaum, a longtime movie and theater critic for the San Francisco Examiner, currently on leave; and Bill Hagwood, a feature editor for Vistas, the theater, Arts and Film section of the Richmond-Independent.

They will talk about opportunities and how to approach and interview celebrities, how to break into the field, the role of the critic, trends in entertainment as seen through their eyes and more.

California Press Women is a professional, non-profit organization comprised of men and women in all phases of communications and affiliated with the National Federation of Press Women.

Registration is at 5:30 to 6 p.m. and wine will be served (at 50 cents a glass.)

Visitors at homes

The Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults (PARCA) and the Community Association for Retarded, Inc. (CAR) will be starting the Home Companion Program in San Mateo County.

Trained companions will be available to provide short-term professional care to developmentally disabled children and adults in the familiar surroundings of their own homes.

Companions are available for a few hours, overnight, or a few days, and make every effort to be adaptable to the family's individual needs.

Companions enable families to take a brief respite from the constant care and supervision required for a disabled family member.

Home companions undergo a 30-hour training course which includes feeding techinques, lifting, administering oral medications, first aid and recreation, and the program currently has job openings.

By Petrini's Presents

BUTTA-BALL AU JUS

So delightfully rich when broiled or barbecued to a crusty brown on the outside and pink inside. Use a 3 to 3½-lb. butta-ball steak. Have butta-ball at room temperature before starting. Cook at high heat 3 to 4 inches from heat source. Brown well on first side before turning. Total cooking time approximately 35 to 40 minutes for medium. Serve on a pre-heated platter, carve in diagonal slices ¼ inch thick. Let natural juices run down to one end of preheated platter. Into juices add ½ cube melted butter, 2 tsp. Worcestershire, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. Accent, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and pour over sliced butta-ball before serving. Serves four to six people.

Serve with a fine Burgundy.

HONORED

Debbie Jolivette is January's Student of the Month at Jefferson High School, school officials announced. Debbie is a senior. During December, Debbie organized the Posada and is a former queen of the event. She is active in community affairs with the Latin Heritage program.

'Student of Month' named at Jefferson

By KAREN WONG, MARCO PANATTONI and BERNARD THOMAS

Senior class secretary, Latin Heritage Club vice president, and a member of the Senior Rowdy Club, Debbie Jolivette, a very busy person, is January's Student of the Month at Jefferson High School.

She was chosen for her involvement in last year's Christmas Posada and for her involvement in the planning of this year's Senior Prom.

Her parents have been the most influential in her life, she says, and she believes with their guidance she will be a better person.

She enjoys school and the activities that it provides. She is undecided about the future, but such a hard-working person will always be successful.

BT

YEARBOOK PICTURES

Supervising the event was Mrs. Linda McLean, English teacher and advisor of the yearbook class. The photographer was Joe D'Gorman.

Dark clouds and occasional sprinkles gave the scene a gloomy look. The dark sky forced D'Gorman to use flashes most of the day.

Everything proceeded as scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

CLUBS

Horse Club president Karen Holland will have a short reign unless a new adviser is found. (Adviser Emmett Tierney will retire soon.) There is a policy that says no club may exist unless there is a teacher to supervise.

The annual dinner for club members was Jan. 17 at the Leaning Tower Restaurant, South San Francisco. For years the dinner had been held at the end of the school year, but it was decided to have it in January so that everyone, including the adviser, would be able to attend.

Getting an inside look at Stanford University was the objective of a field trip taken by 35 CSF members and adviser Al Sinor.

On arrival, the club separated into two groups for guided tours of the campus, which were given by two Stanford students. Students went atop Hoover Tower to overlook the campus.

Although the trip was short, everyone enjoyed themselves immensely.

"It should be fun," said enthusiastic band director Don Berry.

He is referring to Jefferson's annual Winter Concert, which will be Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. in Jeff's Little Theater. Tickets are $2 each.

The Jeff band, directed by Berry, and the Performing Arts Club, under the direction of teacher Helena Fokin, will perform. This year's concert should be interesting because it's the first time a choir will perform.

Student artists honored

Johnny Lau and Diane Carroll, Westmoor High Schoolmusicians, were selected for the California State Honor Band from musicians throughout the entire state of California.

Diane is a junior and plays first flute in her Concert Band and plays tenor saxophone in the Stage Band. She was first chair on flute and piccolo in the Jefferson Union High School District Honor Band and also received a scholarship to a summer music camp.

Johnny is a sophomore and was selected to play the bass clarinet. He also played bass clarinet last year in the district Honor Band. He plays first clarinet in his Concert Band and is a student leader of this group and plays saxophone in the Stage Band.

On Feb. 15, almost 200 selected musicians will converge in Stockton and rehearse for two days under outstanding directors.

Then they will give a concert Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. at the San Joaquin Delta College in the Warren Atherton Auditorium.

The California Band Directors Association is holding its convention in Stockton at that time and is the sponsor of this State Honor Band.

When Johnny first heard the news of his selection to the State Honor Band from his music teacher, he said, "Great!" But Diane's first reaction was to scream and then she said that she felt like fainting.

Donations made

Crystal Springs Junior Women's Club, as a result of funds earned at the San Bruno Street Festival in October, is donating to the La Esperanza Development Center two 20-inch, two-wheel bicycles with training wheels and various other playground and game materials.

The money earned by the Crystal Springs JWC at the Millbrae Wine and Arts Festival in September were disbursed to fund the Development Center's Pumpkin Patch trip to Half Moon Bay in October, as the center decided the trip was a priority over playground equipment at the time.

At this time, Crystal Springs JWC is preparing reports due to Loma Prieta District and the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership.

Awards on the state level are funded by various corporations, such as the Bank of America, to further the philanthropic work of Junior Clubs.

For details, contact Christine Saski at 755-9307 in Daly City.

Dog show

Nearly 2,400 of the country's finest dogs will be on display at the 70th annual Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show Feb. 2-3 at the Cow Palace.

Approximately 115 different breeds will be entered in the two-day show, the only two-day benched show in the United States. All entrants must be blue-ribbon winners, except puppies, and all will be on display from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day.

Show information can be obtained by calling 453-9112, or writing the Golden Gate Kennel Club, 99 Dominican Dr., San Rafael, CA 94901.

The Regent

By ROBIN MOELLER

Another semester is coming to a close at Serramonte. Students are starting to get bombed with finals and seniors are starting to think about graduation, only a half a year away.

Seniors were informed that orders for graduation announcements and cards will be taken at Serramonte today. All necessary ordering supplies and prices were mailed to all seniors' homes. Seniors who didn't receive the material may pick up the forms from Vice Principal Frank Terranova.

Scholarship applications are starting to come in for those seniors who plan to go on to college. The senior class counselor at Serramonte has posted a list of available scholarships in the counselor's office window and says they will be updated as new scholarships arrive.

A few important ones that have come in include the Elks Club Scholarship, Italian Society Scholarship, Buddhist Scholarship, and more.

Freshman class officers for the 1979-80 Serramonte school year include: President, Gina Lim; Vice-President, Dana Hanon; Treasurer, Junior Mamoe and Secretary, Florence Gayagoy.

The Junior-Senior dance was held Jan. 18. The D.J. was Dr. Funk. The dance was scheduled to last from 8-11 p.m.

The pie-eating contest scheduled for last Friday was cancelled. It will be rescheduled, however. The pie-eating contest was supposed to be held during lunch and feature a student from each class.

If Serramonte students still want to place orders for school rings, they can do so today. A Herff-Janes representative will be at Serramonte during lunch. A $20 deposit is required when you order.

There was a Model U.N. meeting last Friday to discuss research about the various countries and committees, in order to prepare for their debate at Berkeley in the spring.

Teachers at Serramonte are starting to lock their doors after the first five minutes of each period after the first bell rings. Students who miss the bell must spend the period with the administrators in the cafeteria.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors are being notified thst there will be no student-initiated program changes at the end of the semester.

Students not enrolled in six classes should make appointments with their counselors immediately.

Oriental Club officers for the 1979-80 year at Serramonte include: President, Quentin Jear; Secretary, Linda Wong; Treasurer, Glenn Navor.

The Oriental Club lists as possible activities, ice skating, roller skating and camping. They went ice skating Dec. 14.

Knights schedule open house

Ray Thurman, grand knight, announced that Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, will hold a family social open house Jan. 26 at Holy Angels Parish Hall, 107 San Pedro Road, Colma.

The evening's activities will start with the celebration of Mass at Holy Angels Church at 5 p.m., followed by the investiture of officers of California Columbian Squires Circle No. 977.

The Columbia Squires is a youth group, sponsored by Marian Council, which was recently reactivated.

The officers to be invested are as follows:

Nemer A. Gonzalez, Chief Squire; Martin Rivera, Deputy Squire; Michael De Vera, Notary; Alonzo Lopez, Bursar; Franco Sibilo, Marshall; Eli Horn, Sentry.

Following mass there will be a pot-luck dinner in the parish hall. All Catholic men interested in joining the Knights of Columbus can attend the mass and family social/open house.

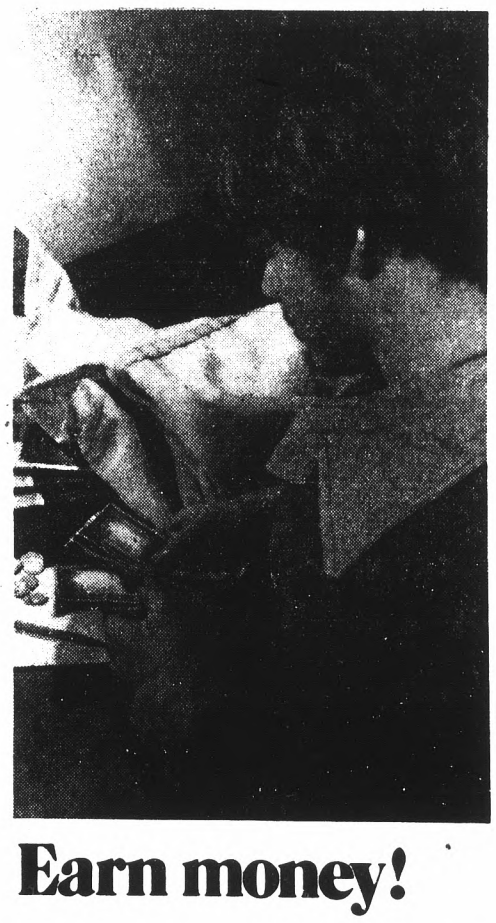
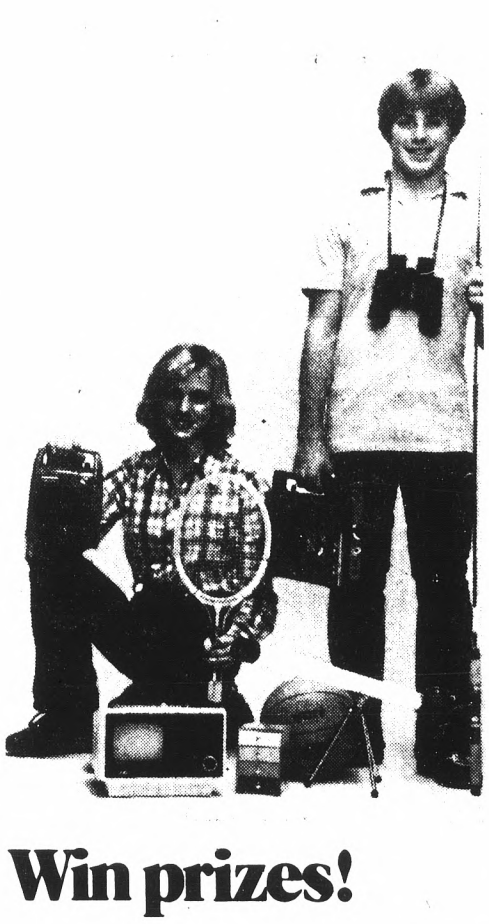
Be somebody. Be a carrier!



Earn money!

When you're a newspaper carrier, you earn money every week. Your own money! For clothes . . . records . . . hobbies . . . or for something special like a bike, a stereo or your own TV. Money to save for the future, too . . . for school or some other important expense. It's your money. You earn it, save it, spend it . . . and learn for yourself how to handle it wisely.



Win prizes!

Newspaper carriers also participate in sales contests with chances to win a lot of "extras"! You can earn extra cash . . . special trips . . . and great prizes! Sports equipment, television sets and stereos, watches and jewelry . . . there are dozens of valuable prizes to choose from. As a newspaper carrier, each new subscriber you sign up helps you win these "extras"!

Have fun!

Being a newspaper carrier is fun! As a carrier, you'll get to meet and work with others your age. You'll get to go to special meetings where you'll learn the art of selling. And when you're a top carrier, you'll get the chance to earn extra money, super prizes, and have some great times with other carriers. It's a terrific way to make new friends!

Be somebody!

When you're a newspaper carrier, you're not just a kid anymore. Being a carrier shows that you can do something important and do it well. Chances are you'll do better in school (most carriers do). And the things you learn about handling money and working with people will help you be successful in the future . . . no matter what you do!

If you're 10 years or older and want to do something important, find out more! Call 348-4411 or send in the coupon today!

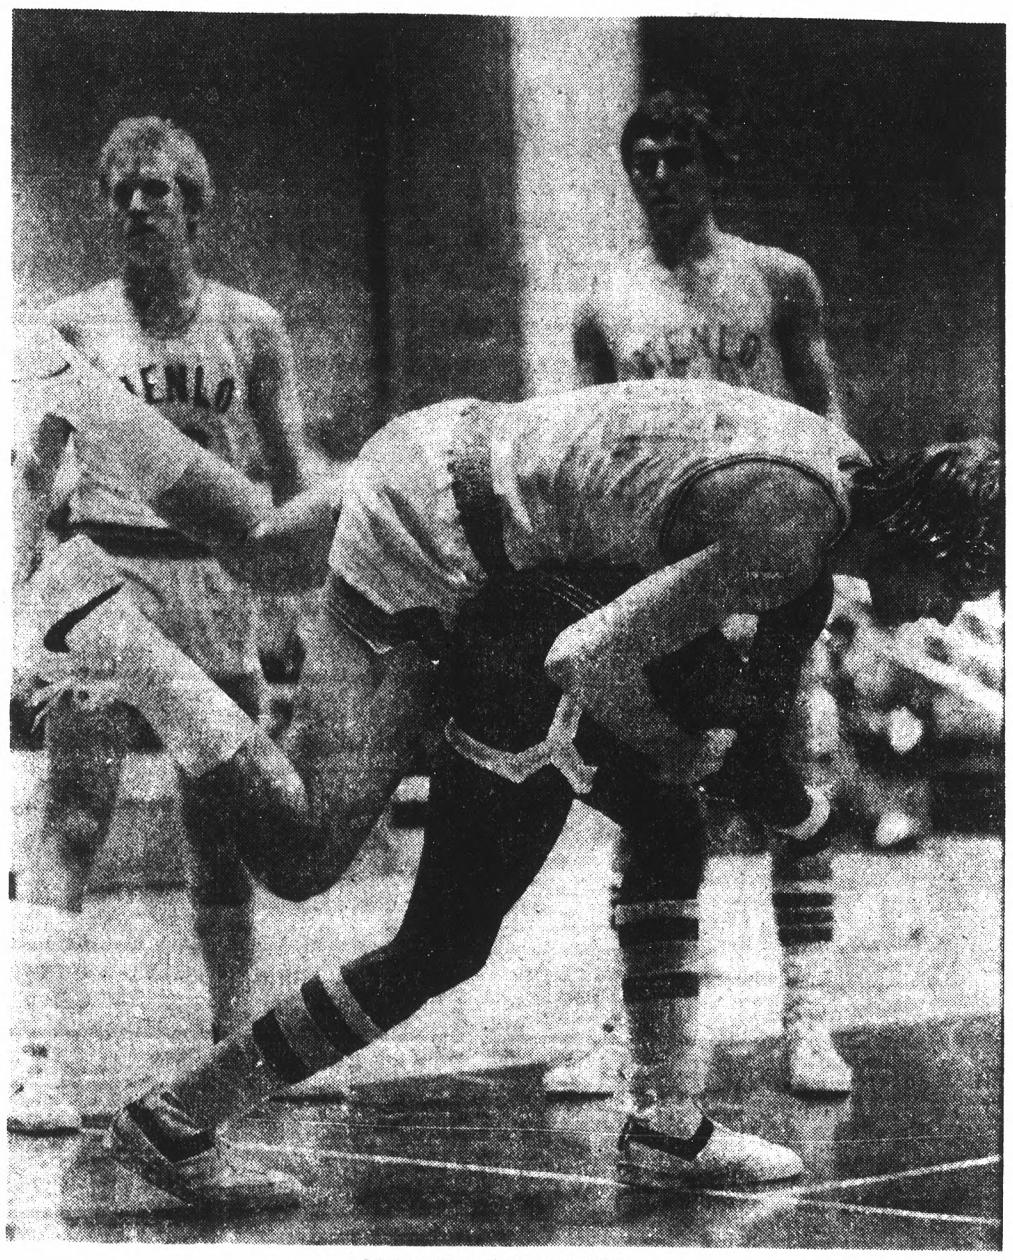
For a 30-29 win

Quick Skyline defeats Menlo's stall tactic



STOPPED FOR A LOSS

Menlo College's 6-7 frontliner Charles Gathright (40) goes over the back of Skyline's Jerome Witherspoon in a loose ball scramble. The two wound up in a jump ball. Looking on are Menlo's Tim Sullivan (left) and Marvin Penner.

At the end of the first week of Coast Conference basketball play in the new Haynes-Prim Pavilion, Menlo College Coach Bud Presley was wondering if it was such a good idea after all to have torn down the old Oakpit.

County rival Skyline's 30-29 victory Saturdy night meant Menlo finished a 0-2 week at home — the first time a Bud Presley-coached team has lost two Coast games at home. The other setback, to Hartnell, came in two overtimes on Wednesday.

"We're snakebit," said Presley, as the Oaks dropped to 1-2. This one could've gone to the Oaks at the buzzer had not Trojan forward Cyrus Stutts blocked Menlo guard Tim Sullivan's last-second, top-of-the-key shot. "But we've had our share of one-point wins in the past," Presley admitted.

Defending champion Skyline now leads the Coast at 4-0, a half-game ahead of 3-0 Monterey Peninsula and Hartnell.

Menlo's first-half four-corner offense resulted in a 13-10 mid-game Oak lead, with 6-4 guard Mike Legarza's six points leading the way.

"There was no way we could play a normal tempo against them," said Presley. "The idea was anytime we were even or ahead to extend their zone."

Menlo got the lead at 9-8 after a pair of Legarza free throws with 12:20 left in the half and went into the stall. But Skyline's quick 5-9 Joe Belfrey stole the ball for a lay-up, his third field goal, and a 10-9 Trojan lead with 10:26 showing.

The Trojans were not to score again until the second half.

The Oaks got the lead back at 11-10 on an 18-foot Legarza jumper at 9:38.

Skyline then showed good patience as the Oaks executed their four-corner tactics well — in front of their own bench.

"I let our players decide about going after the ball," said Skyline Coach Pete Pontacq.

It wasn't until 1:07 remained in the half that Menlo got to the line for a bonus free throw opportunity. Sullivan's pair of charities gave the Oaks their biggest lead, 13-10.

Trojan scoring leader Tim Dunham changed things around in the the second half. The 6-1 Dunham's follow shot at the outset of the second period was answered by Legarza with a fast break lay-up.

The Oaks then had their own eight-minute drought — until Legarza hit a pair of free throws. By then Skyline was leading, 20-15 — on jumpers and layups by freshman Dunham — plus the go-ahead bucket by forward Jerome Witherspoon on a breakaway pass from state assist leader Belfrey with 13:44 to go.

Skyline got five turnovers off the Oaks' Popeye offense during those eight minutes. "Popeye is a rotating offense where we can get a zone extended," explained Presley. "Otherwise, our kids are not quite quick enough to penetrate their zone."

But Skyline's quickness paid off there.

Still, Sullivan and Legarza jumpers brought Menlo back to 21-22 with 8:44 to go. Skyline's No. 2 scorer, 6-7 forward Dave Lopp, has been shut out to that point but tallied six of the final eight Trojan points to keep his team ahead.

Skyline played its own delay game the final six minutes — although shooting when the opportunity arose.

Lopp's jumper from the top of the key made it 30-27 with 2:40 to go. Menlo worked for a shot that missed, but Marvin Penner tipped it in for the game's final points with 1:50 left.

There were only four team fouls against Menlo at that point, so the Oaks had to foul stalling Skyline three times to finally get the Trojans to the free throw line with six seconds remaining. Belfrey's charity attempt missed, and Menlo called time with three seconds left to set up Sullivan's final effort.

The clock had stopped at two seconds, and was ordered reset to three seconds by game officials. The Oaks needed all of that to get the shot off against Skyline's pressure. The deflection by 6-5 Stutts made sure it had no chance.

"They held the ball much better in front of their bench," noted Pontacq. "I always like to play defense in front of our bench in the second half. I thought our trap press was effective. We switched to a 1-2-1-1 for them."

"This is the first time in my life I've had to put in three press offenses," said Presley. "Credit their incredible quickness. Dunham is an incredible athlete."

Jeff earns its fifth win

Although Jefferson High basketball coach Bud Bresnahan contends that his club has the best personnel in the North Peninsula League and has an excellent chance of successfully defending its league championship, he says the road to the top won't be an easy one.

So far, though, Jeff has avoided any potholes, Friday earning its fifth consecutive victory with a 75-65 win over visiting Serramonte.

"Any team can upset any other," Bresnahan said. "I told the kids that this year everybody will be ready for you. Last year we kind of snuck up on people — Westmoor probably had the best talent. But this year I believe we have the best people in the league. So a victory over us, while I wouldn't say it is an upset, is a real victory for the other team."

Still, Jeff continues to play as if it intends to finish the league undefeated. While Serramonte played gamely, staging its patented second-half rally, the Indians simply had too much height, talent and experience for the Regents.

"We go with seiors in the starting lineup, and that has to be worth four, five, six points in a close ball game, because the seniors have been there," Bresnhan said.

Jeff's experience and cohesiveness made a significant difference. After bursing to a 43-33 halftime lead on the strength of 20 points by forward Ernest Dupree, the Indians were put to the test by the pesky Regents.

Serramonte narrowed the gap to a 52-45 at the end of the third quarter, and had two opportunities at the beginning of the final period to move closer. But the Regents field to capitalize on two fast breaks, thanks to some excellent defense by Dupree and Richard Rodgers, and Jeff soon found the mark again.

The Indians, handling the ball with superb precision, outscored their Daly City 15-4 early in the fourth quarter to ice the game.

"I thought we passed the ball very well for easy shots off of their pressube," Bresnahan said. "All of a sudden we turned around and a guy's open for a layup instead of bringing the ball down, setting it up and waiting. We packed it."

Bresnhan noted that Serramonte is the first team which has not attempted to slow the pace of the game against Jeff.

Jeff forward Ken Mackey thought the Indians did not play a superb game.

"We didn't have our plays really together," the 6-2 dsenior said. "It was a little switch for us. We've been having a good season, but we haven't been executing our plays exactly the way we want to. If we get that together, we should be all right."

The Indians sport a 5-0 NPL log (11-2 overall). But the Daly City club is only now entering the tough part of its NPL schedule, facing contenders Terra Nova (3-2) and Westmoor (5-0), next week.

"I think in a season always your most important games are your fifth, sixth, seventh, and first game of the next round, depending on who your matchups are," Bresnahan said.

Sharks take another title

Oceana High's wrestling squad kept its undefeated string alive Saturday with its fourth tournament win of the season in the Hogan Tourney at Vallejo.

Oceana (5-0) bested a host of competing schools, by placing eight wrestlers in the top five and scoring 179½ team points.

Phillip Thomas, wrestling in the 135-pound weight class, brought home the only individual championship for Oceana by winning all four of his matches, two by pinning his opponents. Thomas won in the finals with a 5-3 decision.

Two other local schools competed in the tournament. Crestmoor finished fourth and Westmoor placed eighth.

A pair of Crestmoor grapplers brought home individual championships. Cliff Gosse (122) won four matches, two by pins, and heavy weight Jimmy Williams won an overtime decision in the championship match.

Other local placers from Crestmoor include Orlando Bioc (3rd), Jerry Ritter (5th) and Jeff Bidel (3rd). From Oceana: Marc Liban (2nd), Ray Nakashima (5th), John Osterlund (third), Bill Svozil (4th), Mike Malloy (2nd), Vince Reymoso (4th) and Solomone Havili (2nd). Westmoor had Pat De Graca (2nd), Santiago (5th), Paul Sangervasi (2nd) and Chris Custer (3rd).

In San Jose, San Carlos High's wrestling squad placed 10th Saturday in the competitive Leland Invitational Tournament.

Heavyweight Bob Talbott had the best finish for San Carlos, placing fourth. Jim Jacques (145) and Steve Donley (135) both took fifth-place finishes.

Also in San Jose, Carlmont High's wrestling team turned in a respectable performance Saturday in the tough Mission San Jose Tourney with a 12th-place finish.

Mark Psugawa, wrestling in the 129-pound weight class, took a fifth place, as did teammate Scott Posey in the 156-pound division. Mark Newman (145) finished sixth.

Oceana had kept its record unblemished last week with an easy win over Terra Nova Thursday, 56-12.

Oceana won 11 of 13 matches, including six pins. In the JV match, Oceana thumped Terra Nova, 67-4.

Crocker, Ralston top NPIL cage

In a game which decided first place in the North Peninsula Intermediate Basketball League (8th grade), Crocker School bested Parkside, 55-50.

In other Wednesday action, Ralston School and Wes Palin overcame Eric Rohde's hot hand to earn a 67-42 decision over Cunha. Palin scored 18, while Rohde netted 27. Jim paced Abbott to a 47-46 victory over Bayside.

Following are the weekly standings:

NORTH: Crocker 4-0; Parkside, 3-1; Taylor, 2-2; B.I.S., 1-3; Turnbull, 0-4. SOUTH: Ralston, 3-0; Abbott, 3-1; Cunha, 2-2; Bowditch, 1-2; Bayside, 1-3; Borel, 0-3.

Westmoor tops Tigers

It's tough to win basketball games when you only score one point in the final quarter, but Westmoor High did just that Friday night, holding on to defeat visiting Terra Nova, 35-32.

Westmoor, now 5-0 in North Peninsula League play, went to a four corner attack with 6:40 left in the game and a 34-25 lead.

The Rams had pulled away from the Tigers from the middle of the second period with good outside shooting and effective control of the rebounding game.

"We were up by nine, and I figured it would be a good time for the team to learn how to hold the ball," Westmoor Coach Tony Giammona said.

"Everyone else we've played used it against us and I felt it would be good experience," he said.

It was almost a case of experience at the cost of a win — the usually mobile Westmoor squad found it difficult to stand still with the ball.

A swarming Terra Nova defense thwarted the slow-down tactics with steals or forced Ram turnovers. However, Terra Nova could not seem to put the ball in the basket, as usually reliable Rich Belli and Mike Pedro found even four-tooters rolling out.

With 2:20 left Belli finally cashed in for the Tigers after a Ram turnover, sinking a 15-foot jumper to make it 34-29.

Then Terra Nova guard Ken Hammel made what could have been the play of the game as he intercepted an errant Westmoor pass the senior streaked the length of the court, finishing with a reverse lay-in around Dernck Johnson to make it 34-31.

After another Ram turnover and a Terra Nova missed opportunity, Johnson was fouled and went to the line for one-on-one with just under a minute left. His attempt rimmed the basket and came off to Belli, who started a fast break.

More on the media vs. the athletes: a rift

Le Pacini

Guess you could call this column The Media—II.

I hadn't intended to write a sequel to last week's piece on television sports anchors, but because I was so generally negative toward them, I felt that in fairness I should do some objective examining of sports writers. Of course, it's hard to be objective — and certainly no fun — in this case, because I'm one of 'em. But I'll try.

As I pointed out in a column a few months ago while discussing the rift between the media and athletes, there are probably about the same proportion of jerks to good guys, competents to incompetents in the newspaper field as there are in any other segment of society, including TV sports anchors.

One strong point in defense of sports writers vs. sports TV anchors: Sports writers are sports fans (with the occasional exception when a managing editor tries to get cute by giving a sports column to someone who hates and/or knows nothing about sports "to give them a different angle"), and get into the business because they love sports.

In their own way they are purists, doing what they do (at least at the beginning, before they, like most newsmen, get cynical) for the love of it. I come to this conclusion not only through personal observation, but also because of the practical factor that the pay isn't so hot, ergo, it must be love.

Television guys, on the other hand, tend mostly to be fans only of themselves, and look at the work as a money-making career.

Sports writers, however, must share with the TV people the awful knowledge that their fans ultimately may know as much if not more than they. The difference is that writers contribute substantially to the fans' knowledge, while TV men contribute little. (The camera contributes, but the men behind it usually only wag.)

The message here is that you fans shouldn't sell yourselves short. Don't let us so-called experts convince you that just because we have access to the airwaves and the printed page that we necessarily know more than you do.

If you observe enough games and read enough, you can know virtually everything that we do, because all we can do is observe games and read things about sports. Such shared knowledge makes everybody experts, if they assimilate and analyze the information imaginatively and intelligently.

Having access to clubhouses and executive offices is over-rated because athletes and executives don't tell us anything they don't want us to know, anyway.

Occasionally, we will get something "off the record," or be asked to "sit" on a story for a while, but all that means is that if it has news value, you will eventually get it, anyway, and if it doesn't, well, who cares?

Sure, we get personal, off-field stuff, gossip, but it's the kind of stuff that a REAL fan wouldn't be much interested in because it usually is nothing that will affect the game itself. I mean, are you REALLY interested in the fact that the leading relief pitcher is having an affair with the owner's sister?

Believe me, when a writer gets news that has validity, that he can substantiate, he's more than anxious to get it to you, because that's his job, and also, because like all sports fans, he loves to share his knowledge.

Last week I said that any fan who wasn't afraid of a mike and could be taught to tear copy off a wire and read from a teleprompter could become a competent TV sports anchor.

Is it that easy to become a sports writer? Well, if you can write a simple, declarative sentence, know and love sports, start young, work cheap and happen to be in the right place at the right time, you, too, can become a sports columnist.

It could be everything you've ever wanted, unless you have a fanatical belief in the American work ethic.

Speaking of the strained relationship between the media and athletes, that was quite a show Dante Pastorini put on for national television recently, almost measuring up to his inspired performance against Pittsburgh.

Pastorini was wrong to push that reporter around (he gets paid to be violent on a football field) but on the other hand, the reporter was wrong — as Pastorini pointed out to him — to get personal.

Reporters are perfectly within their rights to criticize the performance of players — even if they're wrong — because, like athletes, they, too, have the right to bad performances. But they don't have the right to call athletes names, to curse them.

There are other strained relationships in the sports news these days.

Should we boycott the Olympics? Since I don't want to become a minor league Red Smith, I'll withhold my written opinion on that one until I give it more careful thought, but I will say that I find it not only highly ironic but very funny that officials of the Olympic Committee are shouting to high heavens that politics should be kept out of the Olympics when, in fact, the very foundation of the Olympics is politics.

How naive or perfectly stupid do they think the American public is to swallow that rationalization for marching to Russia in tailor-made Levis? No, fans, it's all politics, and politics is supported by commerce, and do you really think that the networks and the travel agents and the huge advertisers are going to let Jimmy Carter make a symbolic gesture without a bigger open battle than he'll ever get from the Soviet Union?

And then there's the Jack Tatum flap. Without discussing the moral stands on either side, I think it's safe to say that football in essence is a brutal game which tends to draw into it brutal people, and anyone who steps onto that gridiron can expect only brutality.

You pay your dues and take your chances, and if you run into a Jack Tatum, well, what did you expect?

I have this fantasy that I am a franchise owner with virtually unlimited funds — perhaps almost as much as George Steinbrenner — and that I devise this unprecedented plan to discipline high salaried athletes who have long contracts. It is the work of genius, because it is so simple.

I would make certain that no player on the team has a better contract than my manager!

And I would announce it, not to the public, but to the players only. Then they would know that the manager has only one person to whom he must answer — me, the owner.

By God, it would revolutionize sports.

Perhaps germane to the above topic is the poem below, sent by reader Heinie Thompson. It's called, "Why Coaches Grow Old & Get Ulcers":

A touchdown play was needed for the hometown team to win;
The quarterback was winded, and he needed time to mend;
The coach surveyed the status and called his second man;
"Just run three plays and punt," he said. It seemed the better plan.
The play was called to motion, the fullback took the ball,
And twenty yards were added to the home team's needed haul.
A pass to left connected, and twenty more was fine.
Another pass down center put the ball on the one yard line;
The crowd was tense, excited, a win was in the air;
The cheering group was frantic, with bedlam everywhere.
The quarterback was cool and calm, to him no doubt confronted,
He knew the coach's order, he took the ball and punted.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

What's the easiest way to wrap up nutrition?

In an eggshell! Take the egg — it's loaded with everything that's good for you. Not only that, it comes in nature's perfect package — no impurities can infiltrate that impervious shell barrier. The yolk is suspended within the white by the tough chalaza so that it doesn't automatically scramble itself.

And what food comes with natural vitamin D, a vitamin that must be inserted into other foods by artificial means? The egg, of course.

It's maltreated and malcooked more than any other food, but it survives. Esthetically speaking, it's a delight. The ovoid shape, the sensuosity of the satiny shell, the white fluff of the meringue, the sunny yellow of the yolk. Ah, eggs!

Dieters in particular befriend the egg. Make a morning ritual of the perfect soft boiled egg. Food ritual helps the dieter, concentrates the mind on something about the food other than the eating of it. Buy an egg cup. Buy an egg timer. Be slow and deliberate about the decapitation of the narrow end of the shell. Scoop out the contents into the cup. Eat each mouthful, knowing that you are enjoying your breakfast.

Breakfast is just a beginning. Continue on to an egg-enriched dinner dessert like this:

BANANA BREAD

4 eggs, well beaten
1 1/3 c. dry skim milk
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. cream of tartar
¼ tsp. black walnut extract
2 bananas, well mashed
6 pkts. artificial sweetener
½ tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. salt

Mix all ingredients. Bake in Pam-sprayed or teflon pan at 325 for 25-30 minutes or until done.

The cholesterol controversy rages round the egg, but most nutritionists agree, that a normal blood cholesterol reading indicates that you can eat your eggs sans fear. Don't overdo on eggs any more than you would on any other food. Moderation in all things. And do keep your sense of humor as you devour them.

As an egg eater, remember, the yolk's on you!

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

Ham 'n eggs, peanut butter 'n jelly, macaroni 'n cheese . . . many of today's incredible culinary teams got their start as unsung heroes working alone. One day, someone discovers what beautiful music they can make together and the rest is history.

Now, a culinary combo promises to expand the salad repertoire. After solo engagements year after year on the buffet and picnic scene, kidney bean salad and coleslaw have joined flavors in Kidney Bean Coleslaw.

This recipe is a quick combination of cabbage, kidney beans, sweet pickle relish and onion with real mayonnaise to add creamy body. Garnished with green pepper rings, Kidney Bean Coleslaw will bring a healthful crunch to your meals.

KIDNEY BEAN COLESLAW

4 cups shredded cabbage
1 (16-oz.) can kidney beans, drained
½ cup pickle relish
cup green onion slices
mayonnaise
green pepper rings

Combine the four cups shredded cabbage, the pound of kidney beans, drained, the third cup each pickle relish and green onion slices and enough mayonnaise to moisten, toss lightly. Garnish with green pepper rings.

Makes 8 to 10 servings

Money is wanted to save poppies

An acre of poppies and other wildflowers for $625 is the bargain offered to people looking for an opportunity to contribute to the preservation and display of a 1,600-acre field of California's official state flower. Contributors receive poppy-bordered "deeds" in recognition of their gifts.

The Antelope Valley California Poppy Reserve is in northern Los Angeles County, on Lancaster road, 15 miles west of Lancaster via Avenue I. The drive for public contributions is sponsored by the California State Parks Foundation, the Wildflower Preservation Committee, and the Antelope Valley State Park Citizens advisory Committee.

The State Department of Parks and Recreation has acquired most of the land for the reserve and is now planning a service center on the property, to provide exhibit and meeting space, sanitary facilities, and a state park office.

More than $95,000 has already been contributed for the project through the State Parks Foundation by individuals and companies throughout the state, including public and private schools, garden clubs, women's clubs, Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, and the PTA.

The Wildflower Preservation Committee in Lancaster has received contributions from throughout the Antelope Valley. Many donations are presented as gifts or memorials to friends and relatives.

Contributions in any amount for land acquisition or for the service center will be accepted by the State Parks Foundation, 1706 Broadway, Room 610, Oakland, 94612. The "deeds" are given in recognition of contributions for land in the reserve ranging from 300 square feet for $5 to a full acre for $625.

Question:
My puppy, Gandy, is very large and of mixed parentage. He is very healthy and has been given a clean bill of health. However, his hiccuping is driving me crazy. He doesn't seem to be bothered by it — but it bothers me. What can I do? G.B.

Answer:
If you wait a few months, the problem will probably correct itself. Many puppies hiccup a lot and it doesn't mean a thing. Occasionally, it can be due to internal parasites, so you should have him checked for worms, but you were probably going to have that done when you got his vaccinations anyway.

Question:
I always thought cats were great cream and milk drinkers. Our cat, a 6-year-old male, seems to get sick when we feed him milk in any quantities. He used to handle it OK, but now he has all kinds of problems and we have the brown spots on our rug to prove it. Do cats get allergic to dairy products? L.J.

Answer:
Many cats become allergic to dairy products and develop severe gastro-intestinal disorders. In fact, the commonly held idea that a lost and starving kitten should be given a platter of warm milk is probably in error. Most cats lose the ability to break down dairy products in the stomach and small intestines at about weaning time (six weeks) and diarrhea is a result. Actually, if the cat is fed a good quality commercial cat food the dietary requirements are met and the milk is unnecessary.

Question:
When you de-worm a dog, does it have a bad effect? Our dog, Kippy, didn't feel too good after his experience with de-worming. He threw up a couple of times and seemed to gag a lot. Is this the usual reaction? H.O.

Answer:
Some dogs may have an adverse reaction to de-worming although it is rare. Some worming medications are harder on the animal than others. As far as side effects are concerned, these medications might cause the dog to vomit. The more likely cause is that your dog managed to eat something before being de-wormed. It is important to fast an animal 12 hours before de-worming or they usually will vomit after medication is administered.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

SUICIDE PREVENTION — Temporary help is needed to prepare educational material for next training at the Suicide Prevention and Crisis Center. Telephone counselors are needed to answer the 24-hour crisis hotline in Burlingame. A four-hour shift per week and a commitment of one year is required. Training begins Jan. 26, one evening and one Saturday per week for five weeks in Burlingame.

FOOD ADVISORY SERVICE — A good typist is needed two days a week in Brisbane to type letters and grant proposals.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT — Volunteers are needed in San Bruno in both Child Development Centers to assist teachers for children up to 2½ or 2½ to 5 years. Positions are open weekdays from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

HILLHAVEN — A volunteer is needed to accompany Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital to nearby shopping center in Burlingame.

HEART ASSOCIATION — Volunteers are needed in Burlingame to pack kits, stuff envelopes and count literature in preparation for the Heart Association telethon.

PARENTAL STRESS HOTLINE — Hotline volunteers to provide support and counselling to families in the County. Various shifts available. Training begins Feb. 5 in San Mateo, Tuesdays and Thursdays evenings and Saturday for two weeks.

Additional information about these and other opportunities are available at the Volunteer Bureau office in Burlingame, 342-0801.

Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment only.

A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part, by the county of San Mateo and by private contributions.

Performance at St. Mary's set

The "Bay Bones," conducted by Bay Area teachers and professional trombonists Billy Robinson and Will Sudmeier, will perform in the St. Mary's Cathedral Feb. 10 at 3 p.m.

General admission for the concert is $4 and $3 for students and seniors.

Guest soloist will be Linda Wood, a harpist who will perform The Ghere Harp Concerto. St. Mary's organist Ralph Hooper also will join the trombone group.

Works by Brahms, Palestrina and Vaughan Williams also will be performed. A world premiere piece entitled "Feast of the Stones," a mass for 30 trombones and percussion, will be presented by Amy Snyder. Snyder is a student of Henry Brant, conductor of Vermont's Dromas Ensemble. Brant will be featured as a guest percussionist in Snyder's work.

Conductor Sudmeier, formerly a member of the Oakland and San Francisco symphonies, currently performs with the San Francisco Civic Light Opera. Robinson is a performer and instructor at Skyline College, San Bruno.

For ticket information call Skyline at 355-7000, ext. 234 or 383. Tickets can be purchased at the door or acquired by writing to Billy Robinson, Skyline College, 3300 College Drive, San Bruno, 94066.

Popularity of whale watching

Perspective

By ARVILLE FINACOM

What is it about whales that intrigues us humans!

Some scientists speculate that it is because humans and whales have much in common. Whales, like us, are warm blooded, air breathing mammals who live in families. Whales, like humans, talk to one another. Whales, perhaps even more so than humans, show compassion and concern when one of their own is in distress.

In another way, whales are unlike humans and perhaps this one fact makes them objects of human envy. In the millions of years since ancestral cetaceans returned to full time life in the sea, whales evolved into completely successful species dependent upon only what is readily available.

Scientists see in the fact that such huge life forms can exist in total harmony with themselves and others both hope and encouragement for human kind.

Whale watching has been a quiet sport off Point Loma in Southern California, Point Lobos near Carmel and Point Reyes in Marin County for quite a few years.

In relatively recent time; since the consciousness-raising, media-accented activities of wildlife groups in the late 1960s and early 1970s brought the threat of whale extinction to the notice of millions, local concessionaires have cashed in on the public's urge to see the marine mammals for itself.

Charted whale watching voyages leave several times daily on winter and early spring weekends, weather permitting, from Montgomery, Santa Cruz and Princeton Harbor on the San Mateo County coast. Captains take these vessels almost straight out to sea to a distance of three to five miles to intercept the steady stream of whales heading south this time of year.

Although the California gray whale is medium size as whales go — females reach a length of 50 feet; males are somewhat smaller — seeing one alive, up close and swimming free can be an enthralling experience.

Chances of observing the bulky, barnacled beasts are good since whales, like all mammals, are air breathing and must surface periodically to refil their massive lungs.

Even if many whales aren't sighted on a three-hour voyage — some boats do go out for a whole day — birds certainly are, chiefly pelagic ones who spend most of their lives on the open ocean. Flights of wintering shorebirds along the ubiquitous gulls are also observed on leaving and entering the harbor.

For greater variety in whale watching experiences than those which can be achieved locally, California Academy of Sciences mounts member expeditions in winter to the lagoons of Baja California to watch whale mating and birthing activities as well as summer ones to Alaska, specifically Glacier Bay, where young whales are often seen at pla????

The idea that whales indulge in play is another aspect of their lifestyle which both interests and intrigues man. True, the young of most mammal species do engage in rough and tumble activities which help them develop and tone muscles as well as learn both balance and appropriate adult behavior.

But among land mammals, only man seems to play consistently as an adult, engaging in sports and other recreation activities with the dual aims of peasure and relaxation. Adult marine mammals, whales, dolphins and porpoises, also seem to indulge in play, often performing complex manuevers for what seems to be the simple joy of performance.

Marine mammal researchers are interested epsecially in such play as well as in "whale song" and the clicking "speech" of dolphins and porpoises. Unlike land species of mammals other than man whose vocalizing follows set behavior patterns, whales and dolphis appear to talk as humans do, not only to communicate a specific message, but to talk simply for the sake of talking.

It seems obvious to some researchers who work both in tanks with captive sea mammals as well as among them in the open ocean that these animals are as curious about us as we are about them and that their speech patterns convey this sense of inquiry.

Dr. Sylvia A. Earle, research biologist at Cal Acadmy of Sciences spends much time in the water. Some of her recent work has been in the deep sea channel between the islands of Lanai and Maui in Hawaii.

Some 150 years ago whaling ships out of New England and from ports around the world sheltered in these same waters, the Lahaina Roadstead.

In her dives, Dr. Earle and her photographing associates have confronted pods of "wild" whales at home in their own sea element. Her underwater encounters with the great humpbacks have led her beyond simple "knowing" to caring. And with caring comes, for her, an almost evangelistic spirit.

In a recently published article in "Pacific Discovery" (September/October 1979) Dr. Earle concludes: "Now that we are beginning to know whales not as carcasses, have met them in their own realm, eye to eye, know them as leaping, spouting, awesome living creatures that share our mammalian heritage and our need for an intact, unpolluted ocean, perhaps there is hope that we can go beyond this first step, and — while there is still time — save the whales. Perhaps by doing so, we will gain the perspective needed to save ourselves."

Fittingly, January is "Whale Month" at Cal Academy. Visitors through Jan. 31 will find "Sandy," a 40-foot realistic ferro-concrete sculpture of a California gray whale by Larry Foster of General Whale reclining on the top step at the front entrance to the academy in Golden Gate Park.

As special events, a full day of whale films and lectures will be presented tomorrow, Jan. 19, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Next week, on Jan. 22, at 7:30 p.m., marine mammal photographer Bill Curtsinger and author Kenneth Brower will present a free slide show/lecture at the academy followed by a book signing party where their new cooperative work, "Wake of the Whale," will be featured.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, the film, "Whales, Dolphins and Men" will be shown Jan. 20 at 2 p.m. in the visitor center of Coyote Hills Regional Park, 8000 Patterson Ranch Road, Fremont.

The film explores various efforts at two-way communication between whales/dolphins and man as well as considers the question of whether or not whales can be saved from extinction.

That San Mateo County residents are interested in whales is evident from the response to a single whale watching experience offered last weekend by the Coyote Point Museum Association.

Original estimates led CPMA to charter a 65-foot vessel for 85 people. Soon that was insufficient — 100 were going, then 200. And still the reservation requests came in.

Victor B. Scheffer, chairman of the Marine Mammal Commission in 1975, offered some personal thoughts about whales a few years ago which are equally appropriate today.

"Whales have become newly symbolic of real values in a world environment of which man is newly aware. They (whales) have become symbolic of life itself," he said.

Income tax help for senior citizens

Free help in filing income taxes will be available to senior citizens at four locations in San Mateo this year and one each in Burlingame, Millbrae, San Bruno and San Carlos, the American Association for Retired Persons' Tax Aide Program has announced.

One of these tax assistance centers will start operations Jan. 28, and the rest will first open during February.

All will be open at least once a week until the tax filing deadline April 15.

The volunteers staffing the centers are each receiving 18 hours of training from the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program of the Internal Revenue Service and at least four hours training from the California Franchise Tax Board. Most also have received similar training in past years.

Of the eight service locations in Northern and Central San Mateo County, six are sponsored by AARP, one by the Martin Luther King Recreation Center and one by the Retired Senior Volunteer Programs (RSVP).

The group at the Central Park Recreation Center, 50 E. 5th Ave., San Mateo, will be there on Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon starting Feb. 1, A. E. Wingell is the coordinator.

At the Martin Luther King Center, 725 Monte Diablo Ave., San Mateo, the VITA team, chaired by B. C. Manuel, will serve on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., starting Feb. 16.

Southern San Mateo, including Hillsdale and Beresford, will be served by a group in the Beresford Recreation Center, 2720 Alameda de las Pulgas, on Tuesdays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. starting Feb. 19. Amy Keller is coordinator.

A VITA-trained volunteer, William P. Marquam, will be available at the joint offices of the RSVP and the Catholic Social Services, 20 N. San Mateo Drive, San Mateo, on Wednesdays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. starting Feb. 13.

The Burlingame AARP group, which Marquam also coordinates, will help seniors at the West Coast Savings and Loan Association office at Primrose Road and Howard Avenue, Burlingame, from noon to 4 p.m. Wednesdays starting Feb. 13.

The Millbrae seniors will be served by VITA volunteer Kit Morris in the Millbrae Recreation Center at 477 Lincoln Circle, Millbrae, on Wednesdays from noon to 4 p.m. This also starts Feb. 13.

The San Bruno service will be housed in City Hall, 567 El Camino Real, San Bruno, on Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. starting Feb. 6. Irene Cameron is coordinator.

Senior citizens in San Carlos can receive help at the Community Chhurch, 1336 Arroyo Ave., San Carlos, on Mondays from 9:30 a.m. to noon and on Thursdays from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. starting Jan. 28. A. Caroline O'Neill is coordinator.

Details of this program were recently worked out at a meeting of coordinators in the Western Federal Savings and Loan Association office in Burlingame addressed by Paul J. Zulch of Palo Alto, California State Tax Aide Coordinator for AARP, and chaired by Harry Winton.

California Jaycees District Governor Mario C. Panoringan attended the three-day United States Jaycees Power Training last week in Tulsa, Okla., where the ten Outstanding Young Men in America were chosen in celebration of the United States Jaycee Week. Panoringan, who is the only Filipino-American in the 50-member Executive Committee of the California Jaycees, was one of five state officers from California who attended. He is the past president and chairman of the board of the Daly City Jaycees.

Plea for winter clothing

"Winter can be cold, cruel and merciless if you are poor and destitute," said John M. Olmsted, executive director of the Volunteers of America, in describing the plight of needy individuals and families in this area.

"You can help ease the privation and anguish of these unfortunate members of our society by donating your outgrown and out-of-service warm clothing and shoes," Olmsted continued. "We will see that your discarded clothing gets to those who need it.

"We have had extremely heavy requests for aid during the past few weeks and many items in our stocks are nearly depleted. But if the concerned citizens of our community will help us now with donations of clothing and shoes for men, women and children, we will be able once again to meet this urgent need."

Also needed is furniture, house furnishings, large and small gas and electric appliances, radios, televisions, silverware, dishes and old newspapers, he said.

The Volunteers of America derives much of its support from its continuing salvage rehabilitation program, which in turn provides work opportunities for people who repair, sort and classify the donated items. Many of these items are given to poor people. Others are sold to low-income persons unable to buy comparable merchandise at today's inflated prices.

For singers

If you can sing, Skyline College needs you.

Male chorus singers for the spring production of Mozart's "Don Giovanni," to be presented in March, are needed at Skyline College, San Bruno.

Tenors and basses who are interested should contact Bob Conrad, the director of the opera, at 355-7000, ext. 121 or plan to enroll in Music 495, "Musical Theater."

Extras, for non-singing parts, also are needed. For all parts, contact Skyline before Feb. 1.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Finocchio's winter schedule in effect

FINOCCHIO'S, a famed North Beach nightspot which continues to be the entertainment highlight of a San Francisco evening, is now in its winter schedule (closed Mondays and Thursdays). The varied show offers singing, dancing and comedy presented by talented, attractive female impersonators. Four complete and different shows each evening ... Authenticity of the Italian cuisine at VINCE'S Seafood and Italian restaurant is enhanced when the Italian accent of Day Manager LINO CONTE is overheard as he oversees all aspects of operations. Lino, who came from Naples, Italy, only a couple of years ago, is married to ANGELA CONTE, the daughter of NINA LICATA, owner of the vast Vince's establishment ... New dinner schedule at THE CYPRESS HOUSE in Half Moon Bay is Wednesdays through Sundays from 5 to 10 p.m. Owner HAEKUN CHOI cordially invites readers of "Bright Lights" to enjoy his special dinner offer on Wednesday and Thursday nights, which includes a glass of wine, for only $5.25. All you have to do to enjoy this bargain is bring in their ad (this is being announced only in "Bright Lights). Offer is valid through Feb. 15 ... Weekend suggestion: Try the Teriyaki Steak, which is the Sunday night dinner special at MARTINELLI'S STEAK PIT in Millbrae. Chef SAM features the $4.50 specials from 5 to 8 p.m. every evening except Saturday.

Ercoli legacy at The Leaning Tower

The legacy of old-world hospitality and Italian cuisine featuring the foods of Tuscany, brought to South San Francisco a quarter of a century ago when FRANCOIS ERCOLI came from Pisa in Italy and opened THE LEANING TOWER restaurant in 1955, is being carried on by his son JOE ERCOLI and grandson JOE ERCOLI JR., who are now co-owners ... Among celebrities dining at the elegant PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce Steakery, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton, the other evening, was famed adventure film maker Arno Calderari ... Veteran actor Melvin Douglas, in San Francisco shooting a movie, "Tell Me A Riddle," signed autographs for admiring fans during dinner at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, in the heart of the glittering Geary Street "Theater Row" ... Spanish guitar music and a colorful interior brighten a dining visit to LA PINATA Mexican restaurant in downtown Burlingame. ... At CAPTAIN CHARLES, a gourmet seafood and Polynesian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, the surf surges right up to the panoramic picture windows providing a thrill as guests enjoy exotic drinks and elegant cuisine ... Large menu selection, generous portions, excellent service and moderate prices add up to dining pleasure and a good value at JIM SNIADECKI'S SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S in Redwood City.

Lehr's Greenhouse for garden dining

Restaurant critics and patrons by the thousands have acclaimed the lavish Sunday Ramos Fizz Brunch at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE as one of the "Bay Area's best." It's a gourmet feast set in a beautiful garden in full bloom ... Elegant decor, soft lighting, napery, together with attentive tableside service of gourmet cuisine prepared by Owner-chef VINCENZO LO GRASSO is all reason enough why so many choose DAL BAFFO European restaurant in Menlo Park for special occasions. However, many of the "regulars" who dine here don't wait for "special occasions" — they enjoy it anytime, all the time ... RAY PLUNKETT'S TAHOE MARINER at North Lake Tahoe is an ideal resort for year-round recreation. Located only minutes away from Incline Golf Course and tennis clubs, this North Shore wonderland also offers swimming, fishing, water skiing, boating and sailing ... While known far and wide for pastas and pizzas, there's an amazing choice of other dishes on the menu at ROMANO'S in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. One of the most popular "Specialties of the House" is the Special 16-ounce Culotte Steak, served on the dinner with soup or green salad, fresh vegetable, French bread and butter, and ice cream or sherbet — all for $8.75 (a la carte with French fries or spaghetti for less). Open from 4 p.m. every day of the week.

Romeo's extends special invitation

Down on East 3rd Avenue just across the RR tracks in San Mateo is a little restaurant called ROMEO'S Italian Dinners & Pizza. Features are complete family-style Italian dinners at moderate prices, home made pizzas and an extensive a la carte menu. Take out service and home delivery are also available. As a special invitation to try their food, Romeo's is offering a complimentary large glass of wine with a full dinner through Feb. 29. Open from 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays ... CHARLEY BROWN'S, in Burlingame and Redwood City, offers a delicious bargain for only $6.95 which features over half a pound of prime rib, plus soup or tossed salad, baked potato, sourdough bread and butter, dessert and tea or coffee. Served Mondays through Saturdays from 5 to 7 p.m., Sundays from 4:30 to 7 p.m. . . Those who appreciate authentic home-cooked German and Continental food have "discovered" TILLIE'S 'LIL' FRANKFURT restaurant in Moss Beach. Owner/chef TILLIE SCHOLTZ is frequently visited by her brother OTTO, who lives in Germany near Frankfurt, and claims he does so not only to see Tillie but to check up on her home-cooking. It's true German style, he says, and proves it by eating heartily on each visit.

OFFICER LAUDED

Daly City Police Officer Peter Callies, right, is being congratulated by Assistant Chief of Police Richard Sims. Callies received a commendation for his apprehension of a rape suspect, Nov. 8.

To arrange for vet benefits

Veterans planning to use their educational benfits for the spring semester at Skyline College, San Bruno, should contact the college's Veteran's Affairs Office to arrange for benefits and academic counseling.

Spring semester begins Feb. 4

The Skyline office provides complete services to the veteran planning an academic career, including vocational counseling. The college offers programs in many occupational areas, and assists with transfer programs. Some veterans may be eligible for college credit for their work experience.

No tuition is charged to legal residents of California. Veterans have only 10 years from the date of separation from the service in which to use their G.I. educational benefits. The maximum entitlement is 45 months. Benefits for single veterans enrolled full time are $311 and are higher for those with dependents.

For information on coursework, benefits and pertinent legislation, call the Veterans Affairs Office at Skyline College at 355-7000, ext. 307.

Italians to award 50 grants

The Italian Catholic Federation, a California-based religious and fraternal organization with more than 28,000 members in California, Nevada, Illinois and Wisconsin, announced this week that 50 scholarships will be awarded to Italian-American students enrolling as freshmen in colleges.

All of the scholarships wil be for $250.

The awards will be made to qualified students who will graduate this year from any public or private high school in states where the federation is established.

The basis of selection will be financial need, scholastic record and activities in high school demonstrating character and leadership.

Application blanks may be obtained from the Scholarship Committee, Italian Catholic Federation, 1801 Van Ness Ave., Suite 330, San Francisco, 94109.

In addition, three scholarships of $300 each will be awarded to the top three students of the 1979 winners to be used for the second year of college.

Also, two scholarships of $300 each and one of $500 will be given to three of the 1978 winners, to be used for the third year of college. The latter scholarship is called the Father Bandini Scholarship in memory of one of the co-founders of the Italian Catholic Federation.

Robert Acquistapace, national president, said that in the past 15 years the Italian Catholic Federation has awarded scholarships to 433 Italian-American students who have enrolled universities, colleges and junior colleges throughout the country.

Lot of blank spaces in Daly City's budget

Bereft of very much new money after the passage of Proposition 13, the 1979-80 Daly City capital outlay budget adopted by the City Council Monday night shows a lot of blank space in the "new" and "recommended" columns, with a comparatively meager $656,491 on the bottom line.

The actual total ended up $114,000 higher than that, as recommended by City Manager David R. Rowe, because someone noticed that the Civic Center dome leaks.

Councilman James Tucker mentioned the leaking dome.

"I think we're making a big mistake by not getting on top of this," he said, "The longer we wait, the more it will cost."

Rowe had deleted the $114,000 request for replacement of the original flat plexiglass panels with pre-formed panels, and replacement of the grout in their mountings.

Assistant City Manager Ronald Mitchell told the council the old plexiglass was curling at the corners and that new grouting hadn't plugged the leaks.

The pitter-patter of rain now can be heard inside the Civic Center rotunda on wet days, and Tucker said he was afraid the city could be held liable if someone slipped and fell.

Councilman Albert Teglia asked if the plexiglass panels could be replaced piece by piece over the years. Mitchell replied that this wouldn't be practical, because there's no way to trace the leaks.

"They could be anywhere," he said.

The money will be transferred from general fund reserves, the council decided in its unanimous vote.

Another major reason for the lighter capital outlay budget is the lack of big-ticket projects.

The 1978-79 budget included $436,118 for Mussel Rock dump site improvements, $215,882 for the Gellert Park recreation building construction, and $222,512 for Lincoln Park expansion, items which won't need repeating.

Of the 1978-79 total of $2,248,864 for capital improvements and equipment, only $1,407,295 was actually spent, leaving a $680,864 carryover, enough to cover this year's recommended expenditures, according to Rowe's figures.

Also approved was a 1979-80 gas tax construction budget of $696,176, $434 less than that actually spent last year but less than half that authorized then.

But this year's total, Rowe said in his report, is contingent on a John Daly Boulevard signal inter-connect federal funding grant of $218,000, and San Mateo County funding two-thirds of the costs of a $135,000 Gellert Boulevard access ways and $56,000 Sullivan Avenue widening project.

The largest item otherwise is $210,000 for street resurfacing.

A $47,085 capital budget from motor vehicle taxes, cut almost in half from last year, also was okayed, providing for several new vehicles, from staff pool cars to a compact fire truck.

Another budget to wither in the capital outlay group was the water budget, financed from the city water fund and down to $168,750 from $257,514, but of which only $60,147 was spent. Pumps, pipes, valves and tools are the main items here.

Six take out papers

One potential Daly City City Council candidate had filed his nomination papers and a sixth had obtained papers as of Tuesday to run in the April 8 municipal election.

Jerry Love, a challenger who has been active with the Serramonte Homeowners Association, filed his signed nomination papers with City Clerk Betty Mazza Monday to become the first official candidate for one of the two seats up for election.

The new entrant is Dan Houston, 355 Willits St., assistant manager of the Serra Theater in Daly City, who obtained papers Friday.

Those with papers not returned yet are incumbents Anthony Giammona and Albert Teglia and challengers Rick Walsh and Harry Smith.

No challengers have appeared yet for the city clerk and city treasurer posts. The incumbents, Mrs. Mazza and Anthony Zidich, respectively, have obtained their nomination papers but haven't filed them yet.

Deadline for filing signed nomination papers is Jan. 31, but the deadline is extended automatically to Feb. 5 if any incumbent has filed by then.

CHAMPS ONCE AGAIN

Grand National

The 34th annual Junior Grand National Livestock Show — the showcase for future livestock breeders and ranchers — will take place March 28 - April 1 at the San Francisco Cow Palace, Grand National Manager Darrel Chapman announced recently.

Featured along with the livestock expo will be a Junior Horse Show (April 3 - 9) and Junior Rodeo) March 29 - 30).

"The Junior Grand National is planned as meticulously as our Grand National in the fall," Chapman said. "Each year, it is gratifying to see the hundreds of young men and women who are striving for careers in the livestock industry.

"The Junior Grand National takes pride in spotlighting the talent and knowledge of these young people — tomorrow's ranchers. We always look forward to welcoming them to the Cow Palace."

The exposition features market animal classes, dairy and goat show, open to all 4-H Club and FFA members; and an open breeding show for heifers and ewes, open to anyone between the ages of 9 and 19 (contestants must own their own animals). Highlighting the show are the market animal auctions for beef, swine and lambs.

All market animals will be weighed on opening day, March 28. Judging begins that evening at 6 and continues through Saturday and Sunday. On March 31, the 4-H and FFA judging contest will be held, with the Bank of America Awards Banquet following in the evening.

Livestock sales include the Palace of Stars All-Breed Sheep Sale at 3 p.m., March 29, and the California Junior Polled Hereford Association Heifer Sale, March 31, at 2:30 p.m. The public can order freezer meat at the market auctions on March 31 and April 1.

For information on entering the livestock show (entries close Feb. 20) or on purchasing meat from the market auctions, contact the Cow Palace Livestock Office, P.O. Box 3406, San Francisco, 94134.

League meets

An evaluation of the effectiveness of various regional government agencies by the people who actually work in them will be examined at the next meeting of League of Women Voters of Central San Mateo County.

The unit meetings will be Jan. 29, 11:30 to 2 p.m. at the home of Joan Campagna, 2808 Mariposa Drive, Burlingame. Child care will be provided.

All those interested in becoming better informed about regional government can attend and may contact Mrs. Howard Regan, 186 Shooting Star Isle, Foster City, 349-6717, or Cathryn Heller, 928 Shoal Drive, San Mateo, 572-0385 for details.

Volunteer classes

The Peninsula Humane Society of San Mateo will hold volunteer training classes starting Feb. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon at its shelter, 12 Airport Blvd., San Mateo.

Classes will meet at the same time and location on Wednesdays, Feb. 20 and 27 and March 5. Volunteers must attend all four sessions to complete the training program.

Instructor is Kim Sturla, the society's humane education coodinator.

Fee for the course is a one-year membership in the Peninsula Humane Society. Individual memberships begin at $10 per year.

The four-session course will provide those interested in animal welfare with the opportunity to join the Peninsula Humane Society's active volunteer force.

Topics covered will be first aid for animals, preventive medicine, wildlife, domestic animals, humane education, and an introduction to all Society departments and programs.

There are no prerequisites for the course.

Those interested in attending must contact Sturla at 573-3719 no later than Feb. 6.

To Europe

University of the Pacific student Karen Estrella of Daly City will spend the upcoming semester in Europe through the Institute of European Studies program.

Ms. Estrella, the daughter of Mrs. Rachel Estrella, will be studying in Vienna, Austria. She is majoring in music therapy.

IES was founded in 1950 to provide American college students with the opportunity to study in Europe. Institute centers are located in London and Durham, England; Madrid, Spain; Nantes and Paris, France; Vienna, Austria, and Freiburg, West Germany.

UOP, headquartered in Stockton, is one of only four West Coast universities affiliated with IES. Each semester several UOP students participate in the IES program in Europe.

Art show

Serramonte Shopping Center's "Winter Tapestry of Art" art show featuring many Bay Area artists runs Thursday through Sunday.

Exhibits range from oil paintings, original slate painting, acrylics and watercolors to photography, wood carving, metal sculpture and stained glass to lithography, serigraphs and portrait artists.

Joyce Orth, Serramonte's art show director, expresses her satisfaction with the complete and enticing display of uniquely original art.

Teen club

Gellert Junior Teen Club is beginning a New Year starting Jan. 25 and the Daly City Recreation Department and Gellert Community Center sponsors various activities and dances through the club.

Activities for all junior teens include an all-day snow trip in February, a volleyball tournament, rollerskating and a night at the movies.

Reduced prices to all activities is available for members.

All Serramonte junior teens can participate in a membership drive, disco dance Jan. 25. New members fee is $2 for six months plus admission to the dance. Admission is $1 for current members.

Applications for enrollment as daytime students at Skyline College, San Bruno, continue through January and part of February as space in classes remains available.

Spring semester at Skyline begins Feb. 4.

Lost Daly City man rescued

A 26-year-old Daly City man was rescued Monday morning by Tehama County sheriff's deputies after being lost in the rugged coastal mountains for more than 12 hours, police in Red Bluff reported.

Donald Gaskill of Bellevue Avenue apparently became separated from his friend, Elizabeth Coon, 25, of Daly City, while the two were hiking over a piece of property they were thinking of buying in an "extremely remote" area near Patton Mills, according to Capt. Bill Cashdollar of the Tehama County sheriff's office.

Sometime earlier on Sunday, Ms. Coon told police, Gaskill had fallen and injured his arm and may have become disoriented. It was not immediately known how the pair became separated.

Cashdollar said deputies hiking through the area had reached Gaskill at about 10:05 a.m., but he could not say immediately exactly where the missing man had been found. Rescuers reported by radio that Gaskill had suffered no further injury, the captain said.

The property is located in a mountainous area about 200 miles north of San Francisco, Cashdollar said.

Ms. Coon reported Gaskill missing at about 11 p.m. Sunday. She had hiked down to a house and telephoned police. But authorities were unable to launch an effective search in the dark, Cashdollar said.

He said the deputies had hiked an hour or more from their patrol cars in an effort to find Gaskill.

"Ten or 15" deputies and CHP officers participated in the search, Cashdollar said.

Now its five in Colma

A fifth Colma resident has obtained nomination papers to run for a Town Council seat in the April 8 municipal election. That's not many, according to Town Clerk Frances Liston, who said this filing period so far has been the quietest in years.

The new entry is Dennis Fiscaro, 490 D St., a self-employed landscaper.

Of the four others to obtain papers to run for the three sets up for election, Charles Garrens and Mrs. Elsie Campbell, both challengers, have filed their signed nomination documents.

Still with papers out are incumbent Councilman Fred Garbini and challenger Joseph Messina, with incumbents Paul Howe and Richard Vallerga not yet heard from.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for filing signed nomination papers, but should any incumbent not file by then, the period is extended to Feb. 5 for all candidates.

Each issue of The Post and San Bruno Publications will be considered as consecutive insertions and must be taken to qualify for consecutive insertion rate. San Bruno newspapers are published Wednesday and Friday. The Post is published Wednesday.

ACCEPTABILITY:
The Times reserves the right to reject, censor and properly classify any advertisement.

THE FIRST WORD of each 8 point type ad will be spelled out. Abbreviations will be accepted on the first word in 12 point or larger type lines. However, any ad that does not begin with an alphabetical character will not be in alphabetical sequence.

DEADLINE: Classified advertising must be placed by 12:00 noon day preceding publication, Monday through Friday. 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication and 48 hours preceding holidays.

CANCELLATION: Cancellation orders must be received before 3:00 p.m. on the day preceding publication for all line advertisements appearing in The Times from Tuesday through Saturday and before 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication. Display Classified must be cancelled in writing 48 hours prior to publication date.

ERRORS: No responsibility is assumed by publisher for errors in any advertisement covered by order, nor for the omission of any advertisement in whole or in part, nor for failure to comply with the placement of advertising as ordered either as to frequency or volume. In no event shall publisher be liable for special damages or consequential damages even if it has been notified of the possibility of such damages.

Errors in published advertisements must be reported immediately; and if done, publisher will publish an appropriate correction and where publisher deems it necessary a rerun of the advertisement as corrected, if in publisher's judgment the error substantially varies the meaning of the advertisement as ordered. Such corrections will be made only as to those advertisements which are ordered for one insertion, and as to the first insertion only when ordered for more than one insertion.
